in teaching america more than 20 leading thinkers sound the alarm over a crisis in citizenship and lay out a powerful agenda for reform the book s unprecedented roster of authors includes justice sandra day o connor senator jon kyl senator bob graham secretary rod paige alan dershowitz juan williams glenn reynolds michael kazin frederick hess andrew rotherham mike feinberg seth andrew mark bauerlein and more their message to remain america our country has to give its kids a civic identity an understanding of our constitutional system and some appreciation of the amazing achievements of american self government but we are failing young americans know little about the bill of rights the democratic process or the civil rights movement three of every four high school seniors aren t proficient in civics nine of ten can t cut it in u s history and the problem is only aggravated by universities disregard for civic education such civic illiteracy weakens our common culture disenfranchises would be voters and helps poison our politics imagine an america where politicians governmental institutions schools new technologies and interest groups work together to promote informed engaged citizens civic education in the twenty first century brings together scholars from various disciplines to show how such a united states is possible today inspired by alexis de tocqueville s analysis of american democracy in the early 1800s this edited volume represents a multidimensional evaluation of civic education in its new and varied forms while some lament a civics crisis in america today civic education in the twenty first century raises hope that we can have an informed and active citizenry we find the activities of a number of politicians government institutions schools and interest groups as promising developments in the struggle to educate and engage americans in their democracy new technologies and new innovations in civic education have laid the foundation for a revitalized american civic ecology with civic education in the twenty first century we call for the united states to make these practices less isolated and more common throughout the country the volume is broken into three major sections first there are four chapters exploring the history and philosophical debates about civic education particularly with respect to its role in america s educational institutions then the second section provides seven groundbreaking inquiries into how politicians and political institutions can promote civic education and engagement through their routine operations as some examples this section explores how politicians through campaigns and judiciaries through community programs enhance civic knowledge and encourage civic engagement this section also explores how new technologies like the internet and social media are increasingly used by government institutions and other entities to encourage a more politically informed and engaged citizenry finally the third section contains six chapters that explore programs and practices in higher education that are enhancing civic education engagement and our knowledge of them from the virtual civics campus of fort hayes state to citizens academies throughout the country this section shows the possibilities for schools today to once again be civics actors and promoters by nearly every measure americans are less engaged in their communities and political activity than generations past so write the editors of this volume who survey the current practices and history of citizenship education in the united states they argue that the current period of creative destruction when schools are closing and opening in response to reform mandates is an ideal time to take an in depth look at how successful strategies and programs promote civic education and good citizenship making civics count offers research based insights into what diverse students and teachers know and do as civic actors and proposes a blueprint for civic education for a new generation that is both practical and visionary
