sophocles and the politics of tragedy is an inquiry into a fundamental political problem made visible through the tragic poetry of sophocles in part i badger offers a detailed exegesis of three plays ajax antigone and philoctetes these plays share a common theme illuminating a persistent feature of political life namely the antagonism between the heroic commitment to the beautiful and the transcendent on the one hand and the community's need for bodily safety and material security on the other this conceptual structure not only helps us understand these plays but also establishes a distinctive vision of the tragic dimension of political life a vision that can be applied fruitfully to examinations of political projects quite distant from the world of fifth century athens such an application is the aim of part ii in which badger coordinates the results of the inquiries of part i and applies them to a consideration of the competing claims of three strands of medieval and early modern political philosophy ecclesiastical rule scientific domination and liberal government badger identifies the last of these early modern liberalism as a tragic politics that seeks to sustain and contain the tension between transcendent longing and material need the other church will seem controversial to some as it deals with numerous conditions and traditions in churches that are not scriptural Jesus said that his followers were the light of the world and the salt of the earth light is illumination that reveals what needs to be seen and how to walk the path salt is a preservative that prevents decay and deterioration as such the early church was said to have turned the world upside down by its positive influence in being the light and the salt as Jesus said however today our society seems to have strayed from the path and is full of moral and spiritual decay as the church seems to have lost its positive influence the other church seeks to address the cause of the society's spiritual and moral deterioration as the influence of the light and the salt has greatly decreased in many churches there currently are two types of churches in the world one church represents the salt and spreads divine light the other church is lacking the salt and light but appears to be full of the carnal behavior of mankind the reader will determine which type of church he wants to be in
